

Present Simple/ Continuous Business roleplays

(These roleplays are designed to supplement Market Leader Intermediate New Edition Unit 1, but will work with any Business English class covering this grammar point)

Your partner keeps phoning your number and asking to speak to your boss. Give them a different reason each time why he or she isn't available

You phone your partner on their mobile. You keep hearing different strange noises in the background. Ask each time what the noise is.

You both want to set up a regular meeting. Talk about your weekly routines and try to find a regular slot that suits both of you.

Try to persuade your partner that one of your regular duties at work should be transferred to them

Listen to your partner's complaints about the processes in your company. Admit those faults but tell them how things are changing and how those things are being worked on in order to keep their business.

