

Technology and quantifiers Things in common

New Cutting Edge Intermediate Module 8

Discuss your possessions and ask and answer questions to fill as many of the gaps below as you can with things you have in common with your partner(s).

We both/ all have a/ an _____

We both/ all have one or two _____

We both/ all have a couple of _____

We both/ all have a few _____

We both/ all have few _____

We both/ all have quite a lot of _____

We both/ all have a lot of _____

We both/ all have loads and loads of (= masses of/ tons of/ stacks of/ piles of)

We both/ all have too much _____

We both/ all have too many _____

We both/ all have enough _____

We both/ all have a bit of (= a little) _____

We both/ all have a tiny bit of (= a tiny little bit of) _____

We both/ all have plenty of (= more than enough) _____

We both/ all have half a _____

We both/ all have one and a half _____

We both/ all have two thirds of a _____

Neither/ None of us have much _____

Neither/ None of us have any _____

Neither/ None of us have enough (= We both/ all have a lack of)

Do the same, but with technology. Before you start, brainstorm uncountable words connected to technology to help you (e.g. printer ink)?

Can you remember the things connected to technology that were different between you? Which of you is more of a technophobe, and who is more of a technophile?

Do the quiz on page 82 to check.