

Short answers Answer me game

Instructions for teachers

Photocopy and cut up the worksheet below down the middle so that pairs of students have one half each. They must say things to get the (natural) reactions on their card from their partner, at which point they can cross them off. The winner is the first student to finish their whole card, or the student with most crossed off when the teacher stops the game.

When the game has finished, you could get them to brainstorm one suitable question for each answer. They could then swap cards and do the same, maybe in different Student A and Student B pairs.
