Strange body positions games
prepositions of position/ body vocabulary
Look at a drawing with a body part in a strange position and race to be first to describe it in the right way.

When your teacher stops the guessing game, look at all of the cards below and ask about any you aren't sure about, working together to draw them each time.

Do the activity or activities from here that your teacher tells you to:
- Play the same guessing what the picture shows game
- Listen to a sentence and race to draw it
- Listen to a sentence and say a normal version of it (the same body part in the right place, or the right body part in that place)
- Draw a monster with its body parts in strange places and label it

One ear is between his eyes.	His eyebrows are under his eyes.
His thumb is next to his little finger.	His thumb is between his middle finger and his ring finger.
His nose is behind his neck.	His hands are behind his ears.
There is hair under his foot.	His eyelashes are above his eyebrows.
His belly button is between his eyebrows and his hair.	His nose is under his armpit.
His eye is between his lips.	His arms are next to his legs.
His tongue is under his chin.	His bottom is in front of him.
His knees are behind his legs.	His toes are behind his feet.
His heart is between his ears.	His eyes are in his nostrils.
His brain is between his shoulders.	His feet are between his shins and his thighs.
